

Notes on Contributors

Rebecca Chism is Associate Professor of Foreign Language Pedagogy and Pedagogy Coordinator in the Department of Modern and Classical Language Studies at Kent State University in Kent, Ohio, USA. She teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in second and foreign language teaching methods and approaches. Her research interests include best practices in teaching, pre-and in-service teacher preparation, and computer mediated communication.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-0670-9865>

Contact details: Modern and Classical Language Studies, Kent State University, Kent, OH 44242, USA (rlchism@kent.edu)

Mariusz Kruk, PhD, studied Russian philology (Pedagogical University in Zielona Góra, Poland) and English philology (Adam Mickiewicz University, Kalisz, Poland). His main research interests include computer-assisted language learning, virtual worlds, learner autonomy, motivation, willingness to communicate, language anxiety and boredom in the L2 classroom.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5297-1966>

Contact details: Institute of Modern Languages, University of Zielona Góra, al. Wojska Polskiego 71a, 65-762 Zielona Góra, Poland (mkruc@uz.zgora.pl)

Shannon McCrocklin is Assistant Professor in the Department of Linguistics at Southern Illinois University. She earned her PhD in Applied Linguistics and Technology from Iowa State University. Her research focuses on second language pronunciation learning and teaching, including computer-assisted pronunciation training.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-5365-2067>

Contact details: Department of Linguistics, Southern Illinois University, Faner Hall, 62901 Carbondale, IL, USA (shannon.mccrocklin@siu.edu)

Katarzyna Papaja received her PhD degree in Applied Linguistics and works as Assistant Professor at the Institute of Linguistics, University of Silesia (Poland). She is a former Deputy Dean for Philology and Business Linguistics at the European Tischner University in Kraków. She specialises in methods of teaching English as a foreign language and bilingual education. She has published widely on bilingual education methodologies (mainly Content and Language Integrated Learning – CLIL). She was a part of the team, which conducted groundwork leading to the publication of Profile Report – Bilingual Education (English) in Poland. She was also awarded scholarships and, as a result, was able to gain teaching experience in countries such as Great Britain, the USA, Germany and Switzerland. She is one of the founders of the international LIF (Language in Focus) and FOL (Focus on Language) conferences during which she organises special CLIL and CLILiG symposia. Additionally, she has been an editor of LIF Journal published by DeGruyter and a reviewer of a few academic journals published all over the world.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/000-0003-2808-443X>

Contact details: Institute of Linguistics, University of Silesia, ul. Bankowa 12, 40-007 Katowice, Poland (katarzyna.papaja@us.edu.pl)

Teresa Siek-Piskozub is Professor Ordinarius in the unit of English Applied Linguistics and English Didactics of the Faculty of English, Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań and its head till 2012. In the years 2000-2006 she was the chair of the English Department of Nicholas Copernicus University. She is an author of many articles and five books on foreign language teaching and learning of which one devoted to the use of games was translated into Romanian. She (co)edited collections on applied linguistics and EFL pedagogy. For many years she was the editor of the Modern Language Association of Poland's journal Neofilolog and of the newsletter of the Fédération Internationale des Professeurs de Langues Vivantes FIPLV World News. She lectured in many countries and took part in a big number of national and international conferences.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1294-9216>

Contact details: Department of Applied English Linguistics and Language Teaching, Adam Mickiewicz University, ul. Grunwaldzka 6, 60-780 Poznań, Poland (piskozub@amu.edu.pl)

Joanna Zawodniak, PhD, is Associate Professor and Deputy Head of the Institute of Modern Languages at the University of Zielona Góra, Poland. Her major research interests involve individual learner differences (esp. boredom, motivation, anxiety), metaphorical competence, metalinguistic awareness, print awareness, code-switching, socio-historical psychology in relation to L2 education and young learner SLA. She is the author of two monographs devoted to the child-friendly lexically driven syllabus and L2 writing instruction.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-3219-145X>

Contact details: Institute of Modern Languages, University of Zielona Góra, al. Wojska Polskiego 71a, 65-762 Zielona Góra, Poland (j.zawodniak@in.uz.zgora.pl)

Aleksandra Wach, PhD, is Assistant Professor at the Faculty of English, Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, Poland. She is employed at the Department of Applied English Linguistics and Language Teaching, and conducts classes in English as a foreign language at university level and pre-service teacher training courses. Her research interests include foreign language teacher training and professional development, teaching L2 grammar, the application of technology in L2 learning and teaching, and the role of the L1 in L2 instruction.

ORCID ID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-3341-6347>

Contact details: Department of Applied English Linguistics and Language Teaching, Adam Mickiewicz University, ul. Grunwaldzka 6, 60-780 Poznań, Poland (waleks@wa.amu.edu.pl)